SERVING WITH COMPASSION
TZU CHI MEDICAL FOUNDATION

Among the eight sufferings of life, illness is the most painful. With the aim of patient-centered medical care that respects patients as teachers, Tzu Chi's medical staff will shoulder the responsibility of caring for people's lives and must ensure proper care of the body, mind, and soul of the patients.

— Dharma Master Cheng Yen

Dedicated to providing patient-centered, high-quality community health services to low-income individuals in the United States, the Buddhist Tzu Chi Medical Foundation was established in 1993 as a free clinic. We are now community-based clinics that provide primary care medicine, outreaches, group support programs, and preventive health education, at minimal or no cost primarily to underserved communities in California.

Tzu Chi Medical

In 1966, Dharma Master Cheng Yen and five disciples started Tzu Chi to inspire people to help the poor. After spending six years among the disadvantaged population in Taiwan, Master Cheng Yen realized that many families became poor following a major illness. She decided to provide medical care to the poor.

Tzu Chi means Compassion and Relief

Tzu Chi has grown into a global medical mission. We operate six hospitals in Taiwan, manage the world's fifth largest bone marrow bank, and administer the Tzu Chi International Medical Association (TIMA) with more than 8,600 physicians and health professionals who provide free medical services for 2 million people around the world.
